

Plans for May Day Revealed

Parents' Night

To Be Held May 5;
May-Day Saturday

• PLANS FOR a Parent's Night and a Campus Day for high school seniors have been announced by Ruth H. Atwell, women's activities director, and Mrs. Edith Grosvenor Woodson, her assistant. They will take place May 5 and 6 respectively.

Parents of all University students under 21 who live in the city have been invited to Parent's Night, and students are expected to attend with their parents. Students who wish to attend the ceremonies but have not received invitations may obtain them in Building K.

Highlight of the program for the evening will be four talks by a father, a mother, Mrs. Betty Bliesemeyer, a son, Luther Brady, and a daughter, Jessma Oslin.

Mortar Board, honorary for senior women in activities, will tap new members.

The high school seniors will attend an opening assembly in the Hall of Government in the morning to be greeted by President Cloyd Heck Marvin and hear talks by Dean William Crane Johnstone on "What should you expect from college?" and by Vivianne Hoppaw, on campus activities. Dean Christopher B. Garnett will preside over the meeting.

A tour of campus buildings, conducted by the Pan-Hellenic Council, will follow, and then a buffet lunch.

A May Day ceremony on Lisner terrace will occupy the afternoon. Processional of the May Queen and her court, followed by the crowning of the queen—whose name is to remain a secret until that time—will open the ceremonies. Following this, a group from the Glee Club will sing. Cue and Curtain will put an original radio show, and Orchestras will present several numbers.

Student committee for the affair is composed of Vivianne Hoppaw, chairman, Joan Starr, Betty Cugle, Dick Baer, Barbara Ringer, Bertie Stamm, Nora Weir, and Betty Munson.

Grecian Relief Drive Cancelled

The Greek War Relief drive scheduled to open this week under the auspices of the Student Council will not be held since it would be contrary to the policy of the Community War Fund policies, Achilles Catsonis, director of the local committee, announced.

The Community War Fund drives are held at periodical intervals throughout the year, and no independent drive by a member committee can be held. The drive would have been under the direction of John Paraskevas, founder of the Hellenic Society.

Soldiers Hear Co-ed Singers

• SINGING FOR a very receptive audience at the Stage Door Canteen Saturday night, the Women's Glee Club gave their first solo performance of the season.

Director Robert Howe Harmon led the glee club in eight songs. The first quartet included: "The Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman," "Cachuca and Finale" from "Gondoliers" by Sullivan, "Giannina Mia" from Rudolph Frim's "Firefly," and "Oh Thou from Whom All Blessings Come" by Tschalkowsky.

In the second quartet were: Schubert's "Ave Maria," soloing Pauline Gish, "The Shadow March," by Protheroe, "Lullabye," by Mozart and "I Love a Little Cottage," by O'Hara.

Ensign Faith Sutton of the WAVES, a member of last year's club, joined the second sopranos in the performance. Isabel Harrison did a folk dance in peasant costume during the intermission between the quartets.

Members of the Men's Glee Club joined the Women's Glee Club at Childe's after the performance for nourishment and an extra practice. Dr. Harmon stressed the importance of coming to regular practices from now until the concert May 6, to be held in the Willard Hotel.

'Madre Mia! Madre Mia!'—Cry Italians on Torpedoed Boat

NEW ORLEANS—"Madre Mia! Madre Mia!"

The piteous cry of mutilated Italians, trapped below decks on a torpedoed ship, still haunts, Lt. Henry M. Anding, USNR, of Evanston, Ill., who was Armed Guard commander on a Liberty ship blasted by Nazi torpedo planes while carrying 1800 prisoners of war in the Mediterranean last August.

Polling the most number of ballots cast, Virginia Nalls defeated Jean Kopplaky for the post of activities director by 313 votes.

An overall picture shows 1030 ballots cast, with the Allied party netting 562 straight ticket votes, and the United Students League 307.

Complete tabulations for the election are: president, Lois Smith, 658; Mary Ring, 372; secretary, Dorothy Wolf, 604; Mary Beth Shepard, 419; comptroller, Don Balfour, 640; Jim Charrier, 383; activities director, Virginia Nalls, 667; Jean Kopplaky, 354; freshman director, Anne Thaler, 654; Gerard Jetton, 372; publicity director, Edith Norris, 648; Ruth Wright, 400; advocate, Dale Davis, 645; Lyle Tarbell, 370; social chairman, Alice Rebert, 641; Rene Honey, 382.

The total vote, only twelve less than the number cast last year, when enrollment was much larger, marked the election as a successful one, according to Advocate Luther Brady.

Eddie Shapiro, chairman of the Allied party stated after the election results were made known Friday at the Buff 'n' Blue dance, "The whole party has worked hard and long to win this election. I believe that next year's Council will do as fine a job as the one on which I have been privileged to serve."

The new members of the Student Council will take office week after next.

Gamow Gives Text to University

• "MR. TOMPKINS," by Dr. George A. Gamow, is the latest addition to the Faculty Collection of the University Library. Dr. Gamow, Professor of Theoretical Physics at the University, presented the book to John Russell Mason, Librarian, after its publication last week.

One of Dr. Gamow's earlier books, "Biography of the Earth," is about to appear in the Armed Services Editions, pocket-sized books distributed exclusively to servicemen in overseas areas, military hospitals, and training areas in this country where no library facilities are available.

Another recently published book by a faculty member is "The Marion Press" by Law School Professor Thomas A. Larremore, and his wife, Amy H. Larremore. The book is a collector's item as it is printed on hand-made paper and is limited to 228 numbered copies.

Garnett, Johnstone Attend Meeting

• THE UNIVERSITY'S POST WAR committee met April 13 at the Statler Hotel with representatives of nearby colleges. Dr. Christopher B. Garnett, Dean of Columbian College, and Dr. Francis E. Johnston, professor of Mathematics, represented the University in a discussion of post war problems. This same group discussed religious and theological questions a few weeks ago.

Dr. Deferarri of Catholic University divided the group into several committees to study various topics and report at the next meeting in October.

Newspapers Are Still Free in Spite of War

Following editorial is taken from the Daily Kansan and distributed through the Associated College Press.

Newspapers are like people. They are conservative and dependable, flashy and capricious, radical and crusading. Timid, little Mr. Milquetoast home editions, and bold, extroverted Huey Long tabloids rub pages on the news-stands every day.

Like people, newspapers have been reared in adherence to certain principles. That's why American newspapers believe in freedom of speech and the press. Ever since they had such a hard time in their infancy when the United States was just a babe-in-arms too, newspapers have valued their right to print the truth.

Things you fight for always mean more to you. The American newspapers have used plenty of adhesive plaster in their day, and they expect to keep on using it to patch themselves up after battles against graft, corruption, and threatened loss of liberty. But they also expect to keep on using their rights and prerogatives as members of the great American democracy.

Sometimes the press has had its mouth gagged and its hands tied behind its back, and has been told what to do. It has seemed hopeless. But its belief in the rightness of its cause kept it going. Often on sheer nerve and fiber it has hung on tenaciously, biding its time, and at the psychological moment has thrown all its weight against the bonds, and broken them, and then has taken up the fight where it left off.

Newspapers, like people, are not always right. Intentionally and otherwise, they commit grave errors. A few gangster-like publications undertake a life of crime, but their career is usually put to an end with speedy force by respectable fellow-newspapers. Editorial attacks, boycott, and public opinion can be as fatal to a Dillinger-paper as "the lady in red."

Newspapers are usually cynical, hard-bitten, old roués with the most sentimental interiors you ever saw. With relentless, brutal thrusts they will jab at the sandbagged protection of hypocrisy and pretense and sneer at the devious workings of politics. In the next breath, they will dig into their pockets for handkerchiefs with one hand, while the other reaches out across the country to find a rare medicine for a dying child.

All these components of American newspapers make them the voice of a democratic people. Although in the last several years restrictions have been placed upon them that many thinking newspaper people believe are smothering initiative and honest presentation of the news, the American press can still give thanks for its freedom.

Both journalists and readers should dwell a moment on the glorious history of our press, and realize how vitally essential it is to preserve freedom of expression for now and the time to come.

Swan Joins WASP; Other Alumni Serve

• KRISTIN SWAN, former University student, graduated in the eleventh class of the Women's Air-force Service Pilots at Sweetwater, Texas, on April 15, while the "WASP Bill," which would grant commissions to the women's service group, is still under consideration in Congress. Miss Swan worked as secretary and dietary supervisor before joining the service.

The newly-graduated WASPs, veterans of more than seven months of intensive training, have been picked for a variety of non-combat assignments at Army Air Bases and training fields throughout the country, thus releasing male pilots for combat duty.

Gen. Henry H. Arnold, Commanding General of the Army Air Forces, in his testimony before the House Military Affairs Committee during the course of discussion on the WASP Bill, said, "In time, I hope the WASPs may take the places of all male Army pilots in the United States for the duration."

A release from Maxwell Field, Ala., reports that five University students have reported to the pre-flight school there to begin another phase of their training in the U. S. Army Air Forces. These men are aviation cadets Kenneth M. Herman, who attended the University in 1938-39; Ernest T. Hix, 1940-41; Joseph L. Mason, 1938-42; Edward D. Meigs, 1938-41; and Warren J. Ritterhoff, 1940-41.

Back from combat areas is Lt. James Whitley Suber, former chemistry teacher in the city who took graduate work at the University. Suber has been commander of the Navy gun crew of his ship for the last nine months.

Delivering block busters and high test aviation gas on the heels of assault troops that wrested Makin, Abemama, Roi and Namur from the Japs was the job assigned to Suber's ship. After nine months in those areas, Suber was optimistic about the war in the Pacific. "We have got the power and we know how to use it," he said, "The only problem is transportation."

A Tribute

Dr. Courtland Baker was one of a rare species among professors. He loved the subjects he taught and seemed always able to impart that love to his classes.

His death takes a fine mind from the University teaching staff, but more important, his loss means the loss of an inspiration to the student body. Students of diverse interests and personalities enrolled in his classes, but Dr. Baker added much to the cultural knowledge and appreciation of nearly all of them.

Once at the end of a course in contemporary literature, Dr. Baker stated that the true test of whether a student had passed would come in ten years. If at that time, he said, anyone in the class had spent more on liquor, cosmetics, and the like, than he had on books, then he would have failed.

By his own criterion, Dr. Baker would have been forced to fail few of his students, for his influence has been, and will be, a lasting one.

His notes might be saved, but that immense knowledge of literature, and that enthusiasm for his first loves, poetry and drama, cannot be preserved.

He cannot be replaced. This is the greatest tribute of all.

Disappointing Action

That the sororities on this campus, individually, are not aware that there is a war going on is a charge which cannot justifiably be made. Again and again, they have taken the lead in promoting wartime activities, blood drives, Christmas stockings, and the like, and an infinite number of times since the beginning of the war they have been called upon to enter into competitions for some wartime cause. They have risen nobly to the call and we are proud of them.

In the light of this, a recent action of the Pan-Hellenic Council, an organization composed of delegates of all sororities, is all the less understandable.

With more money in their treasury than last year, they voted exactly half the amount of last year's donation to the Red Cross. It is to their everlasting credit that several members of Pan-Hel fought this cut in the donation, and in justice to the other members of the Council it should be pointed out that the action was taken due to the suggestion of a new "advisor" to the Council, a woman who has never before had any connection with the University, and one who, in our opinion, should not hold the important position which she does in regard to Pan-Hel.

The fact that this woman constitutes a dangerous outside influence to the autonomy of Pan-Hel, in spite of the fact that Pan-Hel itself did vote to accept her, is another story however, for at the moment we are concerned with expressing our disappointment at the action taken by the Council.

It may be very true that Pan-Hel would like to have a lot of money on hand for various purposes such as hiring a hotel room for the Pan-Hel tea. But these things can go by the board. The men helped by the Red Cross—many of them will be those who have gone from this University—cannot come out of the fox-holes.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor of The Hatchet:

The Student Council wishes to take exception to The Hatchet editorial of March 28, 1944, in which it was stated that the Council has not promoted any drives this year requesting student contributions.

We should like to point out that under the sponsorship of the Student Council, a Christmas Drive was held at the University to raise money for underprivileged children. At the close of the drive, $189 was turned over to the Washington Home for Foundlings to buy Christmas gifts, in lieu of the party originally scheduled to be given for them at Strong Hall.

Another successful drive sponsored by the Student Council this year has been that of soliciting volunteers to be Student Nurses-Aides. Although this has not involved money requests, it has been one of the most successful drives to date, with 47 persons already signed up, and the promise of a permanent registration for volunteers at the beginning of each semester.

It was also the Student Council which promoted the inter-sorority Cherry Tree subscription drive, which contributed so much toward attaining the required amount of subscriptions, enabling the Student Body to enjoy a yearbook in 1944.

With the addition of the recent Cherry Blossom Drive, and present plans for a drive for Greek War Relief, it is evident that the Student Council has not been idle in the matter of promulgating drives for student participation this year.

Sincerely yours,

Dorothy Wolf, Secretary.

Dear Dean Garnett:

I would like to suggest that the Summer School classes offered before normal business hours begin on the hour and end ten minutes before the hour so that employed students may have these ten minutes to get to their offices.

In my own case ten minutes is not enough time to get to Dupont Circle easily, but I'd rather be five minutes late than fifteen.

Sincerely,

Marjorie Hensley.

(This copy of her letter to Dean Garnett was sent to The Hatchet by Miss Hensley)

To the Editor of The Hatchet:

In line with your recently inaugurated policy of reform, I offer you for printing the following open letter to Dr. Lowell Ragatz:

Dear Dr. Ragatz:

Having endlessly cogitated and ceaselessly enquired about the problem, I am still unable to fathom the point of the majority of the special assignments which you give to students of history 40.

I fail to comprehend the bearing on the history course of such tasks as analyzing propaganda touches in current periodicals; gathering from an English newspaper the differences between the English and the American way of life; and writing a story about an illustration of the crusades, or some other picture found in the set of varied materials, papers, and books which your students are required to buy.

Perhaps these assignments are educational, and, in a way interesting, but they seem to me to belong to some other courses such as journalism, economics, or English composition.

More important than anything yet mentioned, is the fact that these special assignments require so much time that a student is likely to neglect the more important task of studying the history itself.

Not deeming myself narrow-minded, I would be willing to concede my error in opinion, if I were shown where I am wrong. If you would tell me in a public letter, I am sure the enlightenment would be appreciated by all your students.

Yours,

J. B. Truly.

Roughness Thru Tilt Mars Play

Undefeated Bombers Win IM Diadem

• IN ONE OF the roughest games of the year, Phi Sigma Kappa defeated Theta Delta Chi to annex the 1944 Intra-Fraternity Basketball Championship by a score of 14-11.

In all, 22 fouls were called, but both teams were unable to cash in on the majority of their free throws. At one point in the game, play was stopped, players reprimanded for unnecessary roughness, and warned the game would be called if that type of play were continued.

The Theta Deltis, who had beaten their opponents once this season and lost once to them, played sloppy ball throughout and missed many a sure basket. The Phi Sigs were not much better as they followed suit with as many errors as their rivals made.

The Phi Sigs opened the scoring with a long field goal by Johnson but Miller of Theta Delt duplicated this with a hook shot to tie the score. Minutes later Adams scored on a free throw but Miller again took the lead away from Phi Sig with a short pivot shot to make the score 4-3.

For the rest of the half they managed to stay in front and at the end of the half the Theta Deltis led by 9-8.

In the second half Johnson and Smith paced the Phi Sigs to the championship, each of them scoring a big three points in that half. Johnston put them ahead in the first few minutes with a one-handed mid-court shot and a foul, but Cooper Curtis tied the score at 11-11 with a tip-shot. This proved to be the last point that Theta Delt made and Smith iced the game for Phi Sig with nice layup and a free shot.

The Bombers won the Intramural Championship by going undefeated in 12 straight games. They will receive a trophy at the end of the semester for their splendid efforts and good sportsmanship.

Anding

holds came up on deck and were completely out of control. They rushed the lifeboats, threw several doughnut rafts overboard, released the two after life rafts and lowered a lifeboat.

Underneath their feet, Anding could hear wounded prisoners calling "Madre Mia!", from the corners of the 'tween-decks' portion of the hold where the rush of water had separated them from rescuers.

"Their cries kept getting weaker and weaker and after about five or six hours died out altogether," Anding said. "We tried to burn a hole through the deck to pull some of them out, but it couldn't be done."

One of the lifeboats with about 40 of the prisoners clinging to it, was sucked into the ship's propeller and cut to pieces.

With order finally restored among the prisoners, it was found that the third mate, a British guard, and two of the Navy gun crew had been pushed overboard by the rioting Italians. All four were picked up later by rescue ships and landed safely, however.

Lt. Anding was employed as an attorney-examiner by the Federal Trade Commission in Chicago before entering the Navy. He lived at 1929 Sherman Avenue, Evanston.

He entered the Navy on active duty Nov. 2, 1942, as a lieutenant, junior grade and was promoted January 1, 1944, to lieutenant.

Smith Phillips Announce Slight Profit From Dances

• FINAL BUFF 'n' BLUE of the season drew an average crowd Friday night who appeared principally interested in election results announced during intermission, but according to co-directors Lois Smith and Tommy Phillips, the closing Student Club dance netted enough attendance to cover expenses.

Larry Strickland emceed intermission entertainment provided by Orchestra and a Kappa Delta-Pi K A combine.

The modern dancers performed three numbers, "Shine" revised to boogie woogie tempo; "Pistol Packing Mamma;" and "The Polka" starring Rose Mary Trone, Jane Stauffer, Barbara Lyddane and Nancy Ann White.

"Laffs and lunacy," a KD-Pi K skit directed by Jo Ann Allen, featured radio announcer Dale Davis, a rendition of "Don't Swat Your Mother," by Mary Jane Whittlesey, Helen Mattson and Miss Allen, and the singing of Pauline Gish with Morton Steinberg at the piano.

Sol Pargament and Miss Allen portrayed a family fight, and Jack Sweeney offered several boogie woogie selections on the piano.

Music for the dancing was furnished by Bob Lee's Aristocrats.

Badminton Tourney Take by SAE; Bombers Win

• SIGMA ALPHA Epsilon made a clean sweep in the badminton tournament and defeated Phi Sigma Kappa in both singles and doubles to take the All-University Badminton Championship for 1944.

In the singles match, Bill Brownrigg defeated Herb Smith, 11-5, 15-11, and 15-7. In the doubles match Brownrigg teamed up with Dick Generally and emerged the victors over Smith and Lyle Johnston 7-15, 15-5, and 15-7.

The Bombers, basketball champs, continued their winning ways in another sport by copping the table tennis championship in their bracket. Danny Bierman defeated Jim Flack of S. A. E. to win the singles cup and he teamed up with Bob Hirsch to defeat Flack and Bob Steidel in doubles.

They must now await the winner of the other bracket to come through. The Bombers will then meet them for the University championship.

The other bracket is made up of the Seabees, Sigma Chi, Phi Alpha, and Phi Sigma Kappa.
